Foreword

The College of Pathologists was founded in 1962 when its first and provisional Council was appointed. This was after long discussions within and between the Association of Clinical Pathologists and the Pathological Society of Great Britain and Ireland and after several referenda to the practising pathologists of the day. The negotiations spanned some fifteen years and the year-by-year, month-by-month and sometimes day-by-day swings of opinion and events have been described by the late Dr Derek Foster, the College's first Honorary Librarian, in his book 'Pathology as a profession in Great Britain and the early history of the Royal College of Pathologists'. The first definitive Council was elected in 1963 and the first President was Sir Roy Cameron FRS. The first Founder Fellows and Founder Members were admitted in 1963 and the first Members by examination in 1964.

The College of Pathologists ('The existing College' in the Charter and Ordinances) became The Royal College of Pathologists ('The College') by Royal Charter, which was signed by Her Majesty the Queen on 28 February 1970, with objects that are set out in the Charter. For the Coat of Arms the College of Arms had granted Letters Patent in 1963. On the body of the shield an open book represents learning and the staff of Aesculapius represents Medicine. The Chief (upper part) of the shield bears a wavy red line to indicate a stained collagen fibre and histopathology, two red circles to represent a blood cell for haematology and a coccus for microbiology, and a benzene ring for chemical pathology. On the Crest are Lister's microscope and a sprig of logwood to stand for pathology as a whole.

After temporary homes at 12 Grosvenor Crescent, Chandos House in Queen Anne Street, then at 16 Park Crescent, the College moved to 2 Carlton House Terrace in June 1970. In February 2015 the College moved to temporary premises at 21 Prescott Street and finally to its newly constructed headquarters building at 6 Alie Street in November 2018.

The affairs of the College are regulated by the Royal Charter, the Ordinances as approved by Her Majesty's Privy Council and by the By-laws as approved by the Board of Trustees. Members of the College are required to abide by these as a condition of their admission to and continued membership. Because of this, the Board of Trustees felt that members should have copies of these documents, which are now reproduced on the pages that follow this foreword. From time to time changes to them become necessary and it may not be possible to reprint this booklet each time a change is made, but every proposed change appears among the agenda of an Annual General Meeting and is reported in the College Bulletin. For a correct interpretation of all three documents, readers should note the definitions of terms that are given in the Ordinances and the By-laws and, of these, the distinction between 'members' and 'voting members' of the College should be particularly borne in mind.

Such meetings shall be convened by the Board within twenty one days of the said requisition being made and held within twenty eight days of the notice convening the meeting being circulated, unless the requisition shall have been withdrawn in writing by a sufficient number of requisitionists prior to the notice of the Extraordinary General Meeting being circulated such that the number of members requisitioning the meeting has fallen below the required threshold of five percent of the voting members of the College. If the Board does not convene a meeting as required, the requisitionists themselves may convene such meeting in accordance with these Ordinances within twelve weeks of the said requisition.
12. 13. The accidental omission to give notice of a meeting to, or the non-receipt of such notice by, any person entitled to receive notice thereof shall not invalidate any resolution passed, or proceeding had, at any meeting.
14. Every voting member present in person or by proxy at a General Meeting and entitled to vote shall have one vote.
15. Only voting members shall be entitled to vote on any question either on a ballot or personally or by proxy at any General Meeting.

Proceedings at General Meetings

16. On any point of order raised at a General Meeting (which includes questions as to whether a member is conforming to the requirements of the Charter, these Ordinances and the By-laws) the ruling of the chair of the General Meeting shall be final and shall not be open to discussion, provided that if the chair of the General Meeting shall rule that a point of law has arisen which requires determination, they may invite the meeting to reach a decision on the resolution then under discussion conditionally upon and pending the determination of such point of law.

18. No business shall be transacted at any General Meeting unless a quorum is present when the meeting proceeds to business. Twenty voting members present in person or by proxy shall be a quorum.

In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week, at the same time and place, or at such other place as the Board may determine, and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum is not present within half an hour from the time appointed for holding the meeting the members present shall be a quorum.
20. The President (if any) shall chair every General Meeting. If the President is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, or is unwilling to act, the President Elect (if any) shall chair the meeting. If there is no President Elect, or if they shall not be present or willing to act, one of the Vice-Presidents shall chair the meeting. 21. The chair of a meeting may, with the consent of any meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting) adjourn the meeting from time to time, and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than business which might have been transacted at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. Whenever a meeting is adjourned for thirty days or more, notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given in the same manner as of an original meeting. Save as aforesaid, the members shall not be entitled to any notice of an adjournment, or of the business to be transacted at an adjourned meeting.
22. At any General Meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided by ballot where under or in accordance with these Ordinances or the By-laws a ballot is specified; in any other case the vote shall be decided on a show of hands, unless a poll is, before or upon the declaration of the result of a show of hands, demanded by the chair of the meeting or by at least three members present in person; unless a poll be so demanded a declaration by the chair of the meeting that, on a show of hands, a resolution has been carried, or carried unanimously or by a particular majority, or lost or not carried by a particular majority and an entry to that effect in the minute book of the

No member may take part in a poll unless they are present in person or by proxy at the meeting at which such a poll is taken.

23. If a poll be demanded in manner aforesaid, it shall be taken at such time and place, and in such manner, as the chair of the meeting shall direct, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.
24. No poll shall be demanded on the election of a chair of a meeting, or on any question of adjournment.
25. In the case of an equality of votes, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, the chair of the meeting shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

29. If the Board shall decide that one or more resolution shall be the subject of a ballot they shall also determine by what method such ballot shall be taken and by what date the ballot must have been cast; and may also determine whether prior to such ballot such resolution shall be debated at a General Meeting and whether any amendment thereto which has been duly moved at such General Meeting shall be included on the ballot.
