

The Royal College of Pathologists
Pathology: the science behind the cure

Antibiotics

The prevention, diagnosis and treatment of infection is one of the most important roles in pathology and benefits the whole population. Medical microbiologists and virologists work round the clock to make sure that antibiotics are prescribed correctly.

Did you know that antibiotics have no effect at all on viruses?