

The Royal College of Pathologists
Pathology: the science behind the cure

Heart

Pathology is the medical specialty at the heart of modern healthcare, involved in over 70% of all diagnoses. Although you may not meet your pathologist, your GP or hospital doctor relies on them to provide information so they can give you the correct treatment.

Pathology is also essential in the diagnosis and treatment of heart disease, including heart attacks.